Each employee must be vigilant to avoid the conflicts of interest that may arise in certain situations despite every effort being made to avoid them. 7. Compliance with Swiss4net Code of Conduct Swiss4net recognises the importance of having an effective whistle-blowing policy to establishing a belief in Employees and Contractors and key stakeholders that Swiss4net views unacceptable conduct seriously.

a. UNACCEPTABLE CONDUCT

It is impossible to give an exhaustive list of activities that may constitute unacceptable conduct but broadly speaking, including but not limited to, an activity that may be:

- dishonest, fraudulent or corrupt (including offering or accepting bribes);

- illegal (including theft, drug sale/use, violence or threatened violence and criminal damage against property);
- in breach of any legal or regulatory obligations;
- unethical;
- other improper conduct; and
- any unsafe work-practice.

b. OBLIGATION TO DISCLOSE UNACCEPTABLE CONDUCT

If an employee or contractor reasonably suspects that unacceptable conduct has occurred or will occur, they must disclose their suspicions to Swiss4net Managing Director or Chairman of the Board.

It is not always clear that a particular action is unacceptable conduct and employees and contractors must use their own judgement in this regard. If there are any doubts they should informally discuss the matter with the Managing Director or Chairman of the Board. If a report is made in good faith, then even if it is not confirmed by the investigation, the initial concern will be valued and appreciated and that individual will not be liable to disciplinary action. If a false report is made, maliciously or for personal gain, then disciplinary action may result.

c. MAKING A REPORT AND WHAT HAPPENS AFTERWARDS

A report must be made in good faith and can be made orally or in writing to the Managing Director or Chairman of the Board. Swiss4net does not expect absolute proof of the alleged conduct however the reporter will need to be able to show the reason for their concern. A request can be made to clearly set down the concerns giving rise to the report in writing, together with any supporting evidence.

Upon receiving a report, the Swiss4net Board of Directors shall be informed by the Managing Director or the Chairman of the Board and if in its opinion there is sufficient evidence of unacceptable conduct the matter will be investigated.

If it is decided there is not sufficient evidence of unacceptable conduct the Board of Directors must arrange for the Employee or Contractor who made the report to be informed of the decision and the reasons thereof.

d. INVESTIGATING REPORTS

The Swiss4net Board of Directors will arrange preliminary enquiries to decide whether a full investigation is necessary. If a full investigation is necessary then, depending on the nature of the misconduct, the initial concerns will be either:

- investigated internally (by senior management); or
- referred to the appropriate external person (for example external auditors, legal advisers, the regulators or the police) for investigation.

Subject to any legal constraints, the reporting individual will be informed of the outcome of the preliminary enquiries, full investigation and any further action taken.

The person(s) nominated to conduct an investigation of the content of the report must take all reasonable steps to ensure that the investigation is kept confidential, unbiased and fair. This means:

- any person who may be affected by the investigation should be made aware of the allegations and evidence against them and have the opportunity to put their case forward;
- the investigator may obtain specialist, independent advice on matters outside their area of expertise;
- all employees are required to assist the person carrying out the investigations; and
- the investigation should be carried out with due care and appropriate speed, respecting the individual confidentiality of the whistle-blower and the person(s) affected by the investigation.

- summaries the conduct of the investigation and evidence;
- draw conclusions about the extent of any non-compliance; and
- recommend action to remedy any non-compliance to ensure that it does not recur.

Where allegations of unacceptable conduct made against a person cannot be sustained, that person will be advised and will be entitled to continue in their role as if the allegations had not been made.

Where an employee or contractor has committed and been involved in unacceptable conduct the Swiss4net Board of Directors will consider an appropriate course of disciplinary action. Employees or contractors will not be immune from disciplinary action merely because they have reported the conduct however the individual's conduct in making the report may be taken into account in determining what disciplinary action is appropriate.

Once the investigation is completed, a verbal report will be made available to the individual who made the report. The report will cover the findings, actions taken to the fullest extent possible within commercial, legal and confidential constraints.

If the reporting individual is unhappy with the outcome of an investigation, they may submit another report explaining why this is the case. The new concerns will then be investigated if warranted. Alternatively, the individual is entitled to pursue external avenues.
